

The Ring Lake Carillon

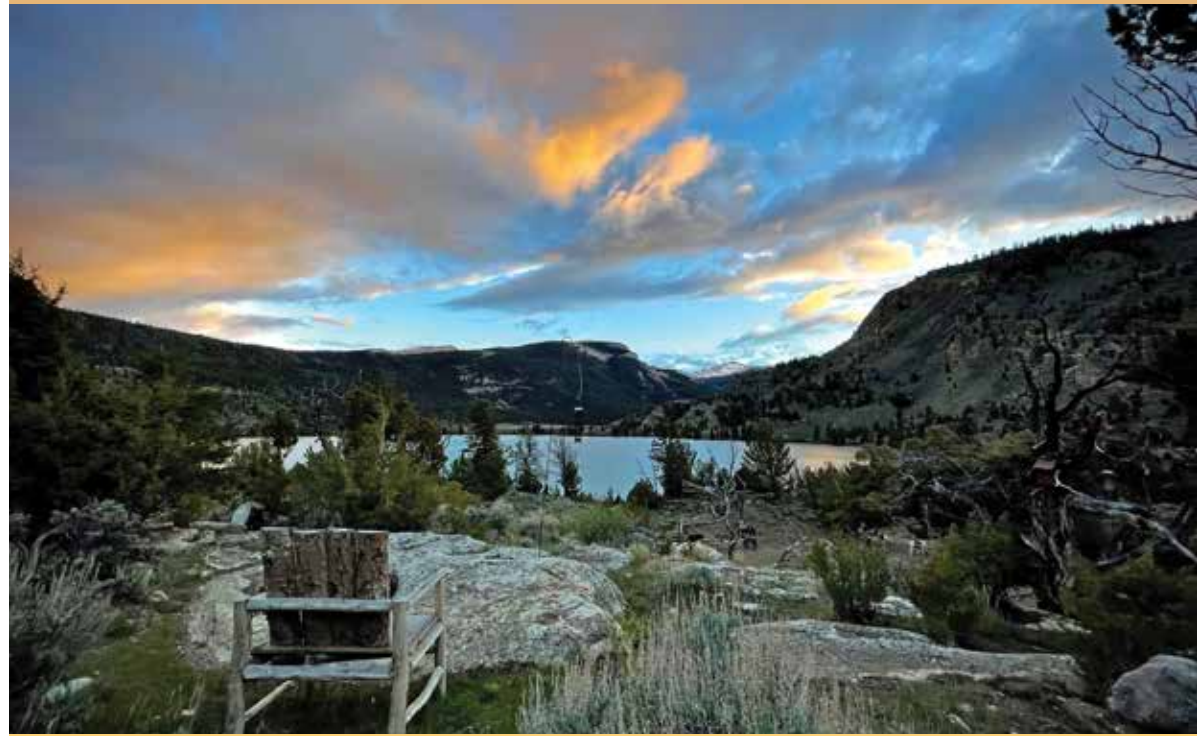

Ring Lake Ranch • Dubois, Wyoming • Winter 2023

An ecumenical retreat center offering “renewal in sacred wilderness”

A Time of Transition

Ben and Amanda Verheul have decided to leave their positions of Facilities Manager and Business Manager at Ring Lake Ranch in the early months of next year. It's hard to overstate the impact that they have had on the Ranch over their time with us. Ben's work provided needed additions and upgrades to nearly every aspect of the physical facilities of the Ranch. Aside from the regular maintenance on the cabins and buildings, he worked on and supervised the addition of a screened roof over the Dining Hall deck, the refurbishing of the Living Room floor and interior walls, the renovating of all of the guest cabins, and the completion of our newest building, the Den, among many, many other projects. Amanda shepherded the Ranch's financial and guest registration systems from largely paper-based documentation to online systems that were better able to handle the ever-increasing registrations we have seen over the last decade. She also managed the Gift Shop with great skill and enthusiasm, selecting new designs and merchandise each year that have made the Gift Shop a place that requires multiple visits by guests each week. On top of their regular duties, both of them were always ready to join in whatever needed to be done to keep the Ranch running smoothly. They accomplished all of this great work while raising their children Clayton and Dayla into lovely young people, as well as becoming deeply involved with the community life of Dubois. Finally, they met every guest, every day, summer after summer, with unwavering kindness, patience, and enthusiasm. That enthusiasm that they brought to their work will always be remembered by the Ranch community and, if we are lucky, emulated by all of us. While they will be deeply missed, we also celebrate the new opportunities they will have in their beloved town of Dubois. Here are their thoughts about their departure with the Ranch community:

Ring Lake Ranch means different things to all of us. To us, it was a life-altering experience. We will never forget our first thought of the place, our first meal, and the realization that everything was about to change from that moment forward. We opened our hearts, gave our all, and enjoyed the journey Life embraces at Ring Lake Ranch. This place called us here in our own ways; it spoke to us while we were here and now after a wonderful 15 years another gear of life is calling. It would be easy to fill pages and pages of paper with reflections and stories of living here, being here, and working here for this long and someday we just might. This is just an announcement to the greater Ring Lake family that we are moving on and not a good-bye. This place will always be sacred to us, the home our children grew up in and explored and the place we built a great life together for a long time. The friendships made will surely last for generations to come, we love you. As we reflect on all that was and look forward (with our family) to the future, we are so grateful to all of you. The people and the connections make this place so special. We have had some truly meaningful conversations with many of you and will carry that with us, always. We are thrilled to be making this transition in our lives and we know the Ranch is in incredible hands. In the words of Carl Koch: 'Onward'

Unfortunately, we also have to announce that Vanna Fox will be leaving her position as Development Director in the next few weeks for medical reasons. Her tenure at Ring

Lake Ranch was not nearly as long as we had all hoped but even in the 18 months that she has been on staff, she has had a great impact. The last two years have been our best ever in donations to RLR and the silent auction that she organized last spring connected us to many people new to the Ranch. Most importantly, she helped the Ranch leadership understand that 'development' for us could and should encompass more than 'just' raising money, as important as that is. Vanna has introduced the Ranch to all sorts of new seminar leaders (nearly half of our 2023 speakers came through her tireless enthusiasm for connecting people) and helped us identify new communities to reach out to. She has positioned us for even greater success in our efforts to deepen and strengthen the Ring Lake Ranch mission and community. We are so very grateful for her work and her spirit.

This is obviously a time of enormous change for the year-round RLR staff. The RLR board and I are reviewing job descriptions and preparing to bring new staff on board. Please watch for announcements of available positions in the coming weeks.

2023 SCHEDULE OF PROGRAMS

If a session is full, we encourage you to ask to be put on the wait list. We often find that spots open up later in the year, so there are often opportunities to attend sessions that are listed as full. Also remember that scholarship help is available to anyone needing assistance with fees; please contact Andy Blackmun at andy@ringlake.org for our simple scholarship application.

May 21 – May 27 Volunteer Week

Every year, the Ranch relies on volunteers to clean, do major repair and upkeep projects, and anything else needed to prepare for guests. Please consider joining us for a week of work, fun, and fellowship!

May 28 – June 3 Katie Jo Suddaby Art for Letting Go: Tibetan Sand Mandalas and the Practice of Impermanence

Sand mandalas are delicate, colorful works of art that take days to complete, then are brushed away, to help people accept that nothing is permanent. Katie Jo's sessions at the Ranch will focus on impermanence and the internal process of adapting better to unexpected changes. The sessions will also draw on her knowledge of the spiritual and temporary art of many world religions and explore how modern Americans can faithfully and respectfully access ancient traditions for their own devotional practices. Sand art lessons will be available for all ages and no prior experience is necessary. Katie Jo Suddaby, an ordained American Baptist pastor, is one of the world's only sand mandala artists trained by Tibetan Buddhist monks in the U.S. and Nepal. She has studied the techniques and philosophies of sand arts from Tibet, China, Japan, India, and several Native American tribes. For Katie Jo, sand painting has become a way of being. Her art has been displayed at the World Parliament of Religions, on various American television channels, and at festivals throughout the United States.

June 11 – 17 Joy Carroll Wallis & Jim Wallis The Changing Faces of Vocation and Calling Sharing their own stories and listening to yours, Joy and Jim will explore what it means for this and the next generation to discover their vocation, how that makes a difference in the world, and how that presents the challenge to herald a new kind of church. Whether you are fan of the 'Vicar of Dibley', want to make a difference in the world or both, this session will have something to lift your spirits! In 1994, Joy Carroll Wallis was one of the first women to be ordained in the Church of England. Her ministry in the inner-city embraced the needs of the poor, homeless, mentally ill, families, youth and the elderly. Her experience in the priesthood was the inspiration behind the hit BBC sitcom, "The Vicar of Dibley." Jim Wallis is the inaugural holder of the Endowed Chair in Faith and Justice and the founding Director of the Georgetown University Center on Faith and Justice. He is a New York Times bestselling author, widely recognized public theologian, renowned speaker, and regular international commentator on ethics and public life.

June 25 – July 1 Julian Michael DeShazier & Robert Franklin Moral Leadership and Reimagining the Next Normal

Drawing on Robert Franklin's book, Moral Leadership: Integrity, Courage, Imagination, this session will explore how people come to be moral leaders. We will use insights from developmental psychology to analyze how virtue and leadership skills may be nurtured and how moral leaders think about love, power and justice and how they frame public issues as moral issues. We will diagnose current social crises and develop strategies for how we can contribute to the repair and reimagining of local communities and the nation. Julian "J.Kwest" DeShazier is the Senior Pastor of University Church Chicago and an Emmy Award-winning musician. Named by the Center for American Progress as one of "10 Faith Leaders to Watch" in 2018, he also serves as Associate Director of the Office of Experiential Education at McCormick Theological Seminary. Julian's father, Robert Franklin, currently holds the James T. and Berta R. Laney Chair in Moral Leadership at Candler School of Theology. He previously served as president of Morehouse College and, before that, president of the Interdenominational Theological Center in Atlanta. In 2016, Franklin was named to the HRC's council on expanding LGBTQ equality and inclusion efforts at Historically Black Colleges and Universities.

2023 SCHEDULE OF PROGRAMS

July 9 – 15 Melanie DeMore Tightening the Weave of Community: Pounding for Peace!

Learn the basics of Gullah sticking pounding. We will create a foot-stomping, hand-clapping rhythmic community and combine it with singing spirituals and songs of protest and peace. Participants will learn about Gullah/Geechee culture through its dynamic music and rhythmic heart. We will, as a community, turn the whole place into a living, breathing drum. Each participant will receive a pounding stick at the workshop that you can personalize throughout our time together. If you have items you would like to use, bring them along (ribbons, cloth, shells, beads, stones – whatever represents you and your story). Melanie DeMore is a Grammy-nominated singer/composer, choral conductor, music director, and vocal activist who believes in the power of voices raised together. She facilitates vocal and stick pounding workshops for professional choirs and community groups as well as directing numerous choral organizations in the Bay Area. She is a featured presenter of SpeakOut! - The Institute for Social and Cultural Change and was a founding member of the Grammy-nominated ensemble Linda Tillery and the Cultural Heritage Choir.

Session is full, wait list only, please.

July 16 – 22 Mark Freeland Making Relatives: Kinship as an Ethical System of Thought

In a colonial and transient world, how does one find a sense of belonging in place? This week will explore the relational possibilities in place through an engagement with Indigenous methods of relating to the environment. Indigenous peoples live in an expansive kinship system that conceptualizes the cosmos as one large extended family. These kinship terms hold significant meaning within Indigenous narratives and help to construct a world that recognizes a complex system of bonds between forms of life that share a space. The activities will include discussions of worldview within Indigenous languages and culture. Sessions will also include activities to practice relationships to the environment. Mark Freeland is Bear Clan from the Bahweting Anishinaabe Community in Northern Michigan (Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians) and Director of the Electa Quinney Institute and Associate Professor of Anthropology at the University of Wisconsin Milwaukee. He is a spouse, father, son and uncle to many.

July 23 – 29 Claudio Carvalhaes Exploring Our Senses to Connect with the Land

We often don't pay attention to the forms of our own perception. For this workshop we use Ring Lake to learn more about our senses. Each day we will focus on a specific sense: see, hear, touch, smell and taste and how we relate to the land. From this experience, we will learn how to create rituals that will help us connect with the land in new ways. Cláudio Carvalhaes, earth thinker, theologian, liturgist and artist, is a native Brazilian who holds a Ph.D. in Liturgy and Theology from Union Theological Seminary in New York City. Carvalhaes has preached at events like the Festival of Homiletics, Academy of Homiletics, and the Wild Goose Festival. He led worship for the All African Council of Churches in Mozambique, taught at the Global Institute of Theology of the World Communion of Reformed Churches, and led worship and teaches at the Hispanic Summer Program. His books include Rituals at World's End: Essays on Eco-Liturgical Liberation Theology and Praying With Every Heart – Orienting Our Lives to the Wholeness of the World.

July 30 – August 5 Chris DePree Everywhere is an Observatory, Everybody is an Astronomer

For tens of thousands of years, humans all over our planet developed a sophisticated understanding of the nighttime and daytime skies without formal education or expensive observatories. And they used their understanding to help them to know where they were in space and time. In our time together, we will explore the ways in which we can learn to be more attentive to the sky above us and its motions and rhythms, using the dark night skies of Ring Lake Ranch. During the week, you will have opportunities to reflect on your experience through drawing, writing or discussion. De Pree holds a PhD in Physics from UNC Chapel Hill. After teaching Physics & Astronomy at Agnes Scott College for 25 years, Chris recently joined the National Radio Astronomy Observatory (NRAO) as the Director of the National Radio Dynamic Zone (NRDZ) Project. Chris loves to share his excitement about astronomy and physics with the widest audience possible, and has written a number of popular science books. He also enjoys reading and writing speculative fiction.

August 6 – 12 Carrie Newcomer & John McCutcheon Dawn, Day, Dusk, Dark: A Celebration of Music as Uncommon Prayer

Join acclaimed songwriters John McCutcheon and Carrie Newcomer for conversation, stories and songs infused with inspiration found in the contemplative works of modern mystics like Merton, Rilke, and Richard Rohr. In a world that can often feel overwhelming, chaotic or broken, we will explore how observing and honoring the patterns and spirit present in nature can help ground us and lift us up in daily and personal ways, guiding us as instruments of peace and action. Carrie Newcomer has released fifteen acclaimed albums and facilitates workshops internationally on songwriting, creative writing, activism, and spiritual vocation. She has collaborated and performed with a wide range of artists and writers, including Alison Krauss and Union Station, Nickel Creek, Indian sarod master Amjad Ali Khan, and Parker Palmer. John McCutcheon is one of America's most beloved folksingers and a master of a dozen different traditional instruments. His thirty recordings have garnered every imaginable honor including seven Grammy nominations. His commitment to grassroots political organizations has put him on the front lines of many issues important to communities and workers. Session is full, wait list only, please.

2023 SCHEDULE OF PROGRAMS

August 13 – 19 Otis Moss III Dancing in the Darkness: Spiritual Lessons for Thriving in Turbulent Times

Rev. Moss will reflect on themes from his forthcoming book, Dancing in the Darkness. The themes will include Dancing in the Darkness, Blue Note Preaching, and The Democracy of Jazz. The Rev. Dr. Otis Moss III is the Senior Pastor of Trinity United Church of Christ in Chicago, IL. He was recently recognized as one of the "12 Most Effective Preachers in the English-Speaking World" by Baylor University's George W. Truett Theological Seminary. The founder of Unashamed Media Group, a justice centered, faith-based agency, Dr. Moss is the recipient of a 2016 NAACP Image award for his work, which includes providing biblical context and theological support to a myriad of groups and causes, including the #BlackLivesMatter and the #Occupy movements.

August 20 – 26 Belden Lane Ravished by Nature's Beauty: The Mystics on Desire

The landscape of the Wind River Range would have driven nature mystics like Rumi, Hafiz, Hildegard of Bingen, and Ignatius Loyola crazy with desire. Catherine of Siena and Teresa of Avila delighted in the symbols of fire and water in describing the love of God. Teilhard de Chardin spoke of the entire world as infused or divinized with the transforming presence of the divine. We'll explore these mystics as they engaged in the Great Conversation with the rest of the natural world, falling head over heels in love. In addition to hiking along waterfalls and ponderosa pines, we'll incorporate images, music, storytelling, and poetry in our sessions together. Belden Lane, a storyteller and wilderness backpacker, is Professor Emeritus of Theological Studies at Saint Louis University. His books include The Solace of Fierce Landscapes, Backpacking with the Saints, and The Great Conversation: Nature and the Care of the Soul.

Session is full, wait list only, please.

Aug 27 – Sept 2 Mickey ScottBey Jones & Rachel Harding Remnants of Our Past and Hope for the Future: Spiritual Activism for Today

This session will explore the generational wisdom of Black women, lessons in radical accompaniment and hospitality from the Southern Freedom Movement of the 1960s, and the resilience we can learn from our elders in order to meet challenging times ahead. Micky will lead practices from her work as a movement chaplain and resilience coach and Rachel will share personal insights and practices of self and communal care from African American and other African diasporic ritual traditions. Mickey ScottBey Jones is an author, facilitator, movement chaplain, certified Enneagram coach and the Director of Healing and Resilience with the womanist southern-based collective Faith Matters. Named one of the Black Christian leaders changing the world in Huffington Post, Micky is a contributing author of Becoming Like Creoles: Living and Leading at the Intersections of Injustice, Culture and Religion. A writer, historian and poet, Rachel Harding is Associate Professor of Indigenous Spiritual Traditions at the University of Colorado Denver and specializes in religions of the Afro-Atlantic diaspora. Rachel's book, Remnants: A Memoir of Spirit, Activism, and Mothering, combines her own writings with the reflections of her mother, Rosemarie Freney Harding.

In Loving Memory Leah Vader

April 20th, 1960 – September 24th, 2022

We are deeply saddened to let the Ranch community know that Leah Vader, who served as Hike Leader and Housekeeping Coordinator from 2011 through 2017, passed peacefully in the presence of her family on September 24th. Throughout her life, Leah expressed her deep faith through work like activism in the Honeywell Project and involvement in Wyoming grassroots political organizing. After marrying in early adulthood and raising four children, she began a new chapter of her life in Gillette, Wyoming where she lived for her last 25 years with spouse and love Lynne Huskinson, building a welcoming home (and kitchen) for friends and neighbors. She shared her indelible spirit, humor, and devotion to nature with hundreds of Ring Lake Ranch guests over her tenure. That devotion to nature and birds in particular led her to spend multiple winters and springs doing raptor research in the Arizona desert. In 2016, Leah even volunteered to co-lead a seminar with Jenn Ottinger at RLR entitled Something in the Air: Birds at Ring Lake Ranch, Birds and the Human Spirit. Even after she concluded her work at Ring Lake Ranch, Leah carried its spirit with her. After her last visit at the end of the 2021 season, she shared the following thoughts, which are both a delightful invocation of her own soul and an expression of what the Ranch meant to her and so many others: I am getting weepy again just thinking how it felt to cross that bridge into RLR, and to leave again. How it connects my life here and the great gift of my life there, and will forever, n'importe quoi. And, how I was bringing a group back one afternoon and we saw a KINGFISHER perched on it!! And it was bleeping Gerard Manley Hopkins' BIRTHDAY!!! Tell me a better bridge story; I challenge you!

A Trip to Fossil Ridge

*You say nothing ever changes;
I say come with me.
Stand here, look up! Tell me what you see.
An ancient ocean floor on a limestone surfboard,
riding west, on the crest
of a stony Wyoming wave.
How can you say nothing changes?
When a mile and a half above the sea,
silently looming over you and me,
Stands a wave, paved in ancient sea life.
Frozen in time, and myriad patinas of lime.
If yesterday's ocean is today's mountain,
then yesterday's brachiopod is today's voice of God Impatient child! Look up! Tell me what you see.
The low Shall be lifted up,
a geologic and a biblical thrust.
You too, my child, shall be made new.
My warrant, my promise,
Your trust*

IN GRATITUDE FOR OUR 2022 VOLUNTEERS

Even as we all continued to deal with the pandemic this summer, we saw our volunteers come back and continue to support Ring Lake Ranch with great energy and enthusiasm. Ken Blumer, Helen Gordon, Marcy Tepper, Nancy Immel, Becky Brown, Jessica Holland, Dianna Ovbey, Jan Mueller, Joe and Roxanna Hoch, Jeanne Fischetti, Allison Moe, Mike McKee, Jeff Reid, Brenda Reith, and Patrick Million all came and pitched in during Volunteer Week to clean cabins, prepare our meeting spaces, clear brush, and work on maintenance projects.

Scholarships Available

Scholarship assistance is available, particularly for first-time guests to Ring Lake Ranch. Please contact Andy Blackmun at andy@ringlake.org for more information or to request our simple scholarship application.

We also had great volunteers throughout the summer season. Mike Morris, Eric Smith and Jessa Decker Smith, Kimberly Redding, William Redding, Roger Walker, Pat Walker and their grandsons Silas and Caleb, Carl and Mary Kay Bruihler, Martha Fuller, Matthew O'Brian, Leslie and Glen Stugelmayer, Wendy Bryant and Linda Belkin, Cale Bowman, Bill and Jean Wolfe, and Monroe Wright all helped out with a wide range of tasks: assisting in the kitchen, setting tables in the dining hall, helping muck the corral, staining cabins, keeping up with Gift Shop inventory, and completing maintenance and repair projects. Finally, we were able to welcome several dedicated young people to work as staff assistants. Rowan Starks, Marian Waller, Ben Blackmun, and Holly Vetter all contributed their time and energy across the Ranch. Ring Lake Ranch wouldn't be the place or the experience it is without the help of all of these dedicated people. We give thanks for their generous contributions throughout the summer.

We have already identified a number of projects that will need volunteer help next season, as well as ongoing needs for help in the Dining Hall, Gift Shop, and elsewhere, so we would love to see our volunteer numbers build back up to pre-pandemic levels. If you are interested in participating in Volunteer Week (May 21st – 27th, 2023) or volunteering during the summer season, please get in touch with Andy Blackmun at andy@ringlake.org or 888-458-5253.

night ride

*never forget this hush, the murmurs, whuffs, and bellied groans
the tired stumbles finding rhythm
as the horse line winds away from home
towards sunset
stirrups empty, feet eased free
the first surrender, a worthy risk as kicking sagebrush yields the rush
of camphor sweetened for open breath
the earth rolls, beyond my shoulder
black bulk of Wind River mountains
rises to a near-new moon
edged ruby and blue violet
the lake cups the milk of stars
humps of sage remembering twilight
glow faint pewter, the only hint
of the hills' dark undulations horses see more than we can,
made for their night wanders over fields of uncertainty, they carry us
on found paths of peace
deep dark reveals magic that horses create
as metal shoes kiss and master glaciated stones
strike trailing sparks, grounded shooting stars,
silent as those through her sky
night blind, I can't anticipate, grateful, release controlling lightened, become just head, heart, hands
the rest between us moves with her gathering, lift,
turn, plunge, in this land's language
if we try, transcend bounds, and trust,
nurture the herd fit in each of us
like centaurs in old tales we merge
and witness our true nature*
